

OEM Manufacturers Pricing

Our pricing structure is designed for Original Equipment Manufacturers. OEM companies are invited to contact us for special bulk order pricing on the broad range of consumables, pressure vessels and associated components. Due to the many variables in both material costs and exchange rates, our pricing structure is continually changing and requires constant adjustment to reflect the current economic climate. We do however, pass on the best possible savings and competitive pricing, to our valued OEM partners and resellers. By creating an 'OEM Resellers Account' with Hydropure Australasia, your company will have access to, up-to date product information and industry specific data on all our products. The private section of our website contains an index of relevant information and product news, regularly updated to provide the very latest information to the industry. Price changes and special offers are also listed in this area, for your convenience. Register with Hydropure as an OEM Company
